WE NOMINATE

Donald Morrison Meisel, 37-year old Minnesotan and an alumnus of Princeton Theological Seminary and Princeton University, who will be installed this Sunday as the 15th pastor of The First Presbyterian Church, the Princeton Community's second oldest house of worship and a church that has been in the mainstream of American life for over two centuries. It was on this site in the 1750's and 1760's that Town and Gown gathered together to hear the presidents of the College of New Jersey, Aaron Burr, Jonathan Edwards, Samuel Davies and Samuel Finley, hold forth as pastors of the congregation as well as heads of the growing educational institution headquartered in the newly completed Nassau Hall.

Called last March as successor to John R. Bodo, the personable, outgoing Meisel brings to The First Church a decade of service in New Jersey, divided between two parishes, and a strong educational background somewhat complicated by World War II naval training: From 1950 until 1954, he was pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Rahway, while for the past six years he has been gaining state-wide recognition as minister of the Wyoming Presbyterian Church of Millburn. Under his direction both of these churches, pivotal centers in areas of expansion, grew in membership and stature and developed far-reaching youth undertakings.

Meisel, of German-Scotch extraction and the son of a career public servant in St. Paul, Minn., completed his undergraduate education at the College of Wooster (Ohio), Macalester College (Minnesota) and here at the University. At the last-named, in meeting the requirements of the Navy's pre-chaplain training program, he earned enough credits to merit his Macalester degree in philosophy with the Class of 1945. He promptly entered Princeton Seminary, receiving his Bachelor Divinity in 1947 and qualifying for graduate study at the University of Edinburgh.

Ordained in the St. Paul (Minn.) Presbytery in 1947 and the recipient in 1954 of his Edinburgh (Scotland) doctorate in philosophy, Meisel has a refreshing, positive approach to "The Kind of Church God Intended," the topic of his sermon a week ago. Meisel emphasizes: "We are called to be restless agents of the restless spirit of God, restless until we discover and declare what God has to say in every sphere of thought, action, and expression, a calling with a special relevance and urgency in a place like Princeton. The inward fellowship is where we receive our inspiration and marching orders for waging the Christian warfare . . ."

Meisel, representing the Synod of New Jersey on the Board of Trustees of the Presbyterian Church's newly adopted Bloomfield College and Seminary and also a member of the Synod Committee on Theological Education, is deeply concerned with any parish's capacity for reaching out to young people through programs that "inspire response to high standards." In this connection, in the weeks ahead, The First Church will announce the appointment to its full-time staff of a Minister and Director of Youth, the first such post created by any church in the Princeton Area.

For continuing the tradition of leadership associated with The First Presbyterian Church; for understanding that the church, "a product of the living encounter with God," must be alive in all respects; for welcoming the challenges presented by a changing, but still blindered, world; he is Town Topics' nominee for

CENSUS CIRCUS

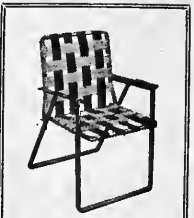

Figures Show Borough Smaller.
Unlike many a community
throughout the nation—such, as North Fork, whose residents were overjoyed when they learned the newest census figures made them bigger and, therefore, better, than the neighboring town of Dead
Guich, the people of Princeton, N.J., care not a whit when their borough's population shows a decrease. Civic pride is apparently bedded deeply enough in other,
somewhat more lasting values
than the innate American desire to be big.

But a community in which education and research are the chosen careers of hundreds of its citizens has a fundamental belief in accuracy. Little wonder, then,
that a mixture of curiosity and irritation is developing over the disclosure through preliminary 1960
census figures that the Borough of Princeton is 271 souls smaller than it was a decade ago.

The Trenton district office of the Federal Census Bureau counted only 11,839 men, women and children in this municipality. Ten years ago, it admits, there were 12,230.

While it is conceivable that a decrease could occur in a borough whose available building plots were better than 95 percent in use a decade ago, and from which a pleasant, more rural sister municipality such as Princeton Township frequently siphons off portions of the citizenry, there are numerous firm factors which make the latest census count open to question. This week,
Town Topics compiled them:

If the Borough's population shows a decrease of 371 persons who has the number of occupied dwelling units in the municipality

increased during the past ten years from 2622 to 2662. As a rough rule of thumb, the average dwelling unit houses 2.8 persons.
Accordingly, the 340 additional units in the past decade should credit the borough with approximately 884 more inhabitants.

If the Borough's population is
smaller today than it was in 1950,
why are there more registered voters? The Mercer County Board of Elections showed 4661 registered voters ten years ago and 4848 today — an increase of 181
which, officials say, will undoubtedly be considerably greater by next fall, when the presidential election nears.

If the Borough's population is
smaller today than it was in 1950,
why are there more children enrolled in its three public schools?

Because of the Memorial Day
holiday Monday,
TOWN TOPICS' deadline
for all display advertising
for next week's issue
will be Friday at 5 P.M.

The pupil census in 1950 was 1064, today it is 1212. (Private schools
such as Princeton Country Day and Miss Fine's currently have enrollments far in excess of a decade ago, but of course they do not regulate attendance on a basis of municipal boundaries.)

Educational Enrollments Even.
It is entirely possible, Town Topics' survey showed, that a decrease in the enrollments of Princeton's three major educational institutions could account for the drop in the Borough's population. College-age students are counted by census-takers as permanent residents of the town in which they are studying.

However, while fluctuations during the past decade occurred, they balance out on virtually an even basis: Princeton University's current undergraduate enrollment of 2950 is smaller by 250 than its post-war era figure of 3200, but its Graduate College population is 271 greater than a decade ago.
Changes at Princeton Theological Seminary and the Westminster
Choir College balance this out almost to the last student: at 479
today, the Seminary is 89 students greater; the Choir College's current 233 is 107 lower, and the net decrease of 18 between them is erased by the University's net gain of 21.

Harmon Hubble of 175 Nassau Street, who began the 1960 census period as district supervisor for this area, resigned three weeks

after the count began "for business reasons," according to Albert Maltz, who came from Washington to the Trenton office to supervise completion of the count in this area. Mr. Maltz was inclined to be sympathetic to any community which lost in population, pointing out that the "stock of finding itself smaller than Dead Gulch after all was not easy to accept at first blow.

"All towns for which we report
a decrease find it hard to believe," he remarked in a consoling tone. Then, seeking to analyze Princeton's own peculiarities, he suggested that possibly the increase of 340 in dwelling units could be accounted for by "elderly people moving into small apartments." The overall decrease in population might also be traceable, he felt, to "fewer servants employed in Borough homes."

The Sun Is Shining Elsewhere.
If Borough residents have been put to shame by a declining population, not so in Princeton Township. There, preliminary 1960 figures reveal, the census is now 10,320, up a whopping 90 percent from 1950's $407.

Twenty years ago, the Township population was a mere 2,251, so that in the space of two decades
the municipality's census had more than tripled. Somewhere, at least, there was a count that was bigger than Dead Gulch.

On second thought, maybe that's what they ought to remember the Borough.

RENEWIK'S TO APPEAL

Liquor License Decision, Renewik's has announced that it will appeal to the state director of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission the action of Borough Council in denying its application for a liquor license.

The license was awarded Friday to King's Court (see "Business in Princeton," page 20) in a statement announcing the appeal, Harold Ostroff, president of Renewik's, said:

"Renwick's is owner-operated by a professionally trained and qualified full-time management. It is equipped to serve beverages together with medium-priced meals, a service which is not otherwise available in the Princeton community. It can accommodate almost 200 people and is provided with privately financed off-street parking. None of the six other applicants could offer these advantages."

In addition, Mr. Ostroff stated that Renewik's had been the first establishment to apply for the license, and was responsible for the legal work which helped to establish the existence of an additional Borough license. He said that the manager of King's Court had appeared at a public meeting of Council and said that the King's Court owner was opposed to the granting of any license.

first "on-campus" graduation ceremony held at Princeton High School has been scheduled for Wednesday, June 15, on the school athletic field. Commencement will begin at 6:45 p.m. and will last approximately two hours. Rain dates are June 16 and 17.

Superintendent B. Woodhull Davis, in making the announcement to members of the Borough Board of Education Tuesday night, said that the bleachers and 600 additional chairs would accommodate 2,000 persons, including members of the graduating class. The public address system used for the University commencement on June 14 will serve for the high school graduation ceremonies the following day.

Mr. Davis also told the Board that a course in Russian will be offered next fall at Princeton High School for the first time. A carefully screened group of 20
students has been admitted to the class.

Assistant Superintendent Chester
A. Stroup recommended—and the Board approved—the appointment of six new faculty members for 1960-61. They are: Mrs. Shirley
M. Bartell, English, Quarry
Street; Mrs. Barbara E. Ness,
science, Nassau Street; George N. Viveque, fourth grade, Nassau Street; Ronald D. Dale, industrial arts, Princeton High School; Robert F. Abernast, general science, Princeton High and Jacques Emile Louis Brunel,
French, Princeton High.

M. Brunel is a Fulbright scholar from France. "We hope to use him extensively in cutting permanent tapes for our language laboratory," Mr. Stroup said.

Mr. Davis also told the Board that Mr. Stroup has received his Doctor of Philosophy degree with honors from Rutgers University.
The problem of the pigpens continues to vex Princeton High School, Mr. Davis said. The pig-men repellent has a base which Mr. Davis compared to axle grease, and it seems to run in the sun. The superintendent and his advisers have hesitated to apply
it lest it run down in streaks over the tower.

WORKER INJURED

At Pool Site, James Glover, 36, 64 Squire Street, suffered a fractured right leg Friday morning when he fell while working on a swimming pool excavation on Broadmead.

Mr. Glover was taken to Princeton Hospital by Borough Police.
He has since been released and is recuperating at his home.

SPEAKERS NAMED

For School Dedications. Dr.
John P. Milligan, assistant Commissioner of Education and Jack B. Twichell, Mercer County Superintendent of Schools, will be the speakers at the dedication exercises at the Riverside and Johnson Park Schools. Both dedications are to be held next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Jess Epstein, president of the Princeton Township Board of Education, will act as chairman at the Riverside ceremony, where Dr. Milligan is to speak. Richard Pearson, vice-president of the Board, will direct the Johnson
Park exercises assisted by Arthur Kempton and Timothy Boyd, president and vice-president of the Johnson Park School Student Council.

Commander Eric H. Jungberg
and Senior Vice-Commander Harold M. Hinkson, Jr., of Princeton Post 76 of the American Legion, will present flags to both of the schools.

SIX WILL RETIRE

From University Faculty. Six
professors at Princeton University, with a total teaching service of 188 years, will retire to emeritus status at the close of the present academic year.

Professors Ernest T. DeWald
and George Rowley will retire from active status in the Department of Art and Archaeology.
Professors N. Howell Furman and Eugene Pascu will leave the active roster of the Department of Chemistry. Professor Jacob Viner will leave the Department of Economics and John B. Whitton will retire from the Department of Politics.

Weather or Not

—HOLLY DAY

After all the poor weekend
weather of the spring season,
the Man was understandably cautious about any kind of forecast extending over a period of several days. Last Sunday, for example, was expected to be clear, and all that sparkled was the rain
on the grass.

About Thursday, he was quite optimistic, but Friday
could produce a few showers.
Taking a deep breath, he said
the outlook for the three-day holiday weekend is "generally fair and mild." First big weekend of 1960, he remarked to those planning to drive out of town, adding, "Don't let it be your last."

Dr. DeWald joined the Princeton faculty in 1925 as an associate professor. He was promoted to the rank of professor in 1939
and was made Director of the Princeton Art Museum in 1947.
Dr. Fowley also joined the faculty in 1925. He has served as Curator of Far Eastern Art since 1927, and has recently made known the findings of a 30-year study of development of Chinese figure style.

Dr. Furman came to Princeton in 1919 and was, in 1937, designated first recipient of the Fisher Award in Analytical Chemistry, the highest honor conferred in that field. A graduate of the University of Budapest, Dr. Pascu joined the Princeton faculty in 1930 and was made full professor in 1947. A consultant to the Textile Research Institute, Dr. Pascu is distinguished for his research in carbohydrate chemistry and

OH, HE IS, IS HE? The flat statement "Papa is All" is occasionally contradicted in the Pennsylvania Dutch comedy coming to the Playmill under the aegis of Princeton Community Players. Left to right: Peter Cook, who plays "Jake"; Esther Uisickin, who will be seen as "Emma"; Elaine Battila, who will play "Mama"; and Edward Callanan as the omnipotent papa.

News Of The THEATRES

"PAPA IS ALL"

Community Players Comedy. A Pennsylvania Dutch comedy of Mennonite manners will be offered to Princeton audiences at the Playmill June 3 and 4 and June 7 through 11 by Princeton Players. Tickets are on sale now at the University store and at the Playmill on Alexander Street. Constance Loux is directing a cast whose members are Elaine Battila ("Mama"), a member of the original Princeton University Players; Esther Uisickin ("Emma"), former member of the Cornell University summer stock company; Edward Callanan ("Papa"), last seen in the Players' "A Murder Has Been Arranged";

Peter Cook ("Jake"), member of the cast of "Age of Anxiety"; Mildred Wasserman, as "Mrs. Yoder"; and Robert Wren as a state trooper. "Papa is All" is a dialect play, but the dialect is easy to understand, and full of amusing turns of phrase.

TICKETS NOW ON SALE

For C-K Subscription Series. Tickets for C-K Production's three fall offerings: Stanley Holloway's "With a Little Bit of Luck," "Elsa Lanchester Censored" by Charles Laughton, and Jose Greco's Ballet Espagnol are now on sale at the University Store or through C-K Productions, Box 561, Princeton.

Subscription prices are $150 and $850 for the three shows. Tickets will not be sold for individual productions. The calendar for the new series will begin October 3 with Holloway's pre-broadway appearance in "With a Little Bit of Luck," continuing on November 6 with a Sunday matinee performance by Elsa Lanchester. (This is the Harvard football weekend.)

The final offering will be Jose Greco, who will appear on January 11 with his Spanish Ballet troupe.

SUMMER SEASON TO BEGIN

For University Players, "Epitaph for George Dillon," by John Osborne and Anthony Creighton will open the summer season for The University Players on June 25. "Dillon" and subsequent productions will be presented, as in the past, at Murray Theatre on the University campus. Requests for subscription tickets may be addressed to the Players at the Theatre.

Following their first offering, the Players will present the American premiere of Carl Sternheim's farce, "The Underpants," adapted from the German by Eric Bentley. On July 12, the offering will be "The Prodigal." This is an original treatment by Jack Richardson, of the legend of Orestes.

It will be followed, for the week of July 19 by Shaw's "Major Barbara" and on July 26 by the Arthur Miller adaption of "An Enemy of the People."

The Players will present three one-act comedies during the week of August 2. They are "Two Gentlemen of Soho," by A. P. Herbert; "The Lesson," by Ionesco; and "Queens of France," by Thornton Wilder. For their final productions, The Players will offer "Six Characters in Search of an Author," by Pirandello, starting August 9, and a musical comedy, to be announced.

Dale Ball will serve as producer for the series. In making his announcement concerning the Players' summer plans, he has also announced the addition of Stuart Duncan to the Players' Advisory Committee. Mr. Duncan, active in the post-war reorganization of the Players, is co-producer of the off-broadway "Under the Sylvan Tree."

THE 'PLAYHOUSE'
Our Man in Havana (May 25-28) is an estimable serio-comic spoof of international spydom, produced and directed by Carol Reed, written by Graham Greene and starring Alec Guinness, Burl Ives, Maureen O'Hara, Eric Kovacs and Noel Coward. The film is in Cinemascope.

Guinness, a bumbling self-effacing vacuum cleaner representative, is dispatched by British Secret Service agent Coward, who wants him to set up an espionage center in the Cuban capital. Because he is anxious for his motherless daughter (Jo Morrow), Guinness agrees. When Coward presses him for action, Guinness invents a mythical intelligence crew, picking real names out of a country club register and producing elaborate drawings which are actually based on the vacuum cleaners he sells. The comedy takes on unfunny overtones when Guinness' only friend (Ives) is killed and Guinness is deported from Cuba.

But the moments of excitement and intrigue are handled as skillfully as the out-right comedy, and the result is a continuously diverting 112 minutes. Kovacs is particularly good as the reputedly brutal police officer, who takes an interest in Miss Morrow and Guinness' comic brilliance flares even during the film's occasional dull stretches.

The Fugitive Kind (May 29-June 4) is an adaptation of Tennessee Williams' "Orpheus Descending" with a screenplay by Williams and Meade Roberts. The excellent cast features Marlon Brando, Anna Magnani, Joanne Woodward, Maureen Stapleton, and Victor Jory.

Brando is a young wanderer who comes to a small Southern town from the nightspots of New Orleans to seek a new and honest life. He is befriended by the sheriff's wife (Miss Stapleton) and the lonely, unhappy wife (Miss Magnani) of a storekeeper who is dying of cancer; just as quickly, he earns the enmity of the sheriff (R. G. Armstrong) and the storekeeper (Jory). To complicate matters, the outcast daughter (Miss Woodward) of a wealthy family finds Brando irresistible and chases him shamelessly. Brando gets caught up in the swirl of hatred, jealousy and threats when he goes to work for Miss Magnani, and the animosities of Jory and Armstrong combine to bring about his death.

Like all Williams scripts, this is good drama and the danger that you'll be bored is not very real. There is as usual the feeling that the world, however grim, is not quite as black as Williams

FOR YOUNG READERS
 Over 25. For about fifty cents (as low, actually, as 35 cents and as high as $1), you may buy any one of a fascinating collection of second-hand books for children which the Witherspoon Art and Book Shop on Spring Street has picked up — well, here and there; some of them are just off the boat from Ireland, others are ancient volumes from a forgotten playhouse, still others are fairly valuable collectors' pieces.

Many of these books, quite frankly, are for people who have children, rather than for people who are children. It wouldn't be quite fair to say that you have to be over 25 to appreciate the collection, but age will enhance its value for you. On the other hand, the books are priced right for small allowances, and a child might like to browse, choose and pay for his own.

"Wind in the Willows" for 60 cents, and another, "Grahame" called "Golden Age" sound like good buys. Nesbit's "The Would-be-Goods" is a pleasant English story. There's "Children of the New Forest," and Andrew Lang's True Story Book.

That edition of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" was printed in 1901, and the "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" is a first edition, no less. Collectors of Oliver Optic will want "The Do-Somethings-A-Story for Little Folks" published in 1869.

For 60 cents you can buy Arthur Ransome's "Peter Duck" or for 35 cents, a copy of "English Fairy Tales." Beatrix Potter's "The Tale of Little Pig Robinson" — a sober and moral tale — is 60 cents and "How the Little Grey Rabbit Got Back Her Tail" (author unknown) is 40 cents.

Our favorite is something you won't buy from a piggy-bank allowance. It's a very old edition, of "The Prince and the Pauper," for which Witherspoon Art and Book is asking $5. "The Mystery of Edwin Drood," first edition, is $32. An autographed copy of Richard Halliburton's "New Worlds to Conquer" is $3.

There are other children's volumes in the collection which bear titles better known to boys and girls today, but we like to think of older readers finding a worn and happy edition of a book they loved a long time ago.

Scholars who have not yet attained the Beatrix Potter level will steer to another corner of the shop where the 11th edition of the Britannica, complete, is for sale for $49. Some novels from the estate of I.A.R. Wylie are also here: a scattering of Henry James and

Red For Sirens

They're having a fire demonstration at the Shopping Center this Saturday, and the Chantrey Beauty Shop Salon people at Baumberger's have decided that this is the very best time to exhibit the latest in red hair.

There will, accordingly, be models on parade wearing hair which is, if not precisely fire-engine red, at least red enough for any siren. The idea is to look at the models and then make an appointment with Chantrey for your own hair.

A new head of red hair is not a casual matter of sticking your head in a bowl. You must have your hair analyzed for color and texture, and a Chairoi technician has been giving lessons to Chantrey operators in hair analysis as well as hair tinting.

So take a look and then let Chantrey decide what your particular red-head formula should be. Today's most popular tints are Muted Bronze Auburn, Rose Blonde and Glowing Chestnut, plus all the shades in between. You don't want to be a blonde all your life, do you?

Some Kipling, among others. You'll also find two first editions of Willa Cather: "Obscure Desires" and "Sapphira and the Slave Girl."

Some out-of-print flower books will attract in-print gardeners. Volumes by Louise Beebe Wilder ("The Garden in Color") and "Adventures in My Garden," Nellie Blanchard ("The American Flower Garden") and Homer D. House ("Wild Flowers") are illustrated with color plates, in many cases, and are quite inexpensive, considering their size and quality.

New Paint Job at Chantrey. We refer, not to ladies who have just had their hair dyed red (see box this page), but to the redecoration at the Chantrey Beauty Salon at Baumberger's.

To begin with, the studio has been expanded; for example, the Design Studio now has seven main dryers and six new stations, and Miss Terry has her own separate studio.

The redecoration has been done around the color pink, used in various textures and shades. The lower walls are pink moiré, and the painted walls above are a lighter shade of the same color. All the chairs are now pale aqua and the lounge chairs under the dryers are ivory teaparty.

Two separate dyeing studios have been screened off from the main room and decorated with striking shades of charcoal and silver that blend with the black lavatory basin, required where dye work is done.

U-2, BRUTE! Spies are on the loose in Cuba and vacuum-cleaner salesman Alce Guinness (center) is unwillingly dragged into the net in "Our Man in Havana," which will be featured at the Playhouse through Saturday. In this scene, Jo Morrow and Evelyn Kovacs look on confidently as Guinness, drunk, prepares to exchange passwords with a fellow agent, who is not, for security reasons, shown.

It is but at this late juncture it is perhaps a bit churlish to criticize Williams for not writing light comedy. There is a good deal of power here, and the performances are fine.

THE GARDEN

When Comedy Was King (May 23-28) is an uneven but often hilarious potpourri of silent film comedy shorts. The actors and actresses who appear include Charlie Chaplin, Buster Keaton, Laurel and Hardy, Ben Turpin, Fatty Arbuckle, Wallace Beery, Gloria Swanson, the Keystone Cops, the Sennett Girls and Bobby Vernon. Robert Youngson produced the film and wrote the generally amusing narration. The original musical score is by Ted Royal.

The movie opens with Charlie Chase and his family visiting a movie house of the 1920's. After some pretty lamebrained antics, some of which are mercifully covered by the main titles, the film heads down to business. Some of the comedies seem pretty dated and quaint, but there are moments, particularly when Chaplin is on the screen that are as funny as anything that has ever been filmed. A high point is the sequence, written by Frank Capra, then a Sennett gagman, in which Billy Bevan careers down the street in a wreck of a car, winging every other parked vehicle.

Masters of the Congo Jungle (May 30-June 4) takes its place among the best documentaries ever produced. Eighty-eight minutes long, in CinemaScope and color, it is a serious and exciting study of life in the Congo. The narration is by Orson Welles and William Warfield. Sam Hill wrote the screenplay.

The color photography is of the first order and the film's subjects cover the broad sweep of the African landscape, from threatening volcanic craters to the wonderfully alive jungles. Native rituals, dances an elephant hunt and long sequences dealing with animal life are included. Even if you ordinarily shun documentaries, this is one to see. Recommended.

It's New To Us

A small waiting room has been deftly designed to look bigger than it really is, with graceful wrought iron chairs painted light beige and upholstered in champagne-colored plastic. There are gold sconces and Empire prints and little marble-topped coffee tables just big enough to hold a purse and an ashtray.

Come to my Patio. Sides of pools and outside of houses will be immensely improved this summer by the addition of some wrought iron furniture now available at Manning's Wayside, Lawrenceville. These pieces have a grace and formality not always associated with outdoor furniture, but they also have a sturdiness which belies their airiness. All the pieces are guaranteed for ten years against rust and they have upholstery which looks as though it would last almost that long.

The furniture comes in olive green, yellow, pink or aqua, and in two general designs: a plain, unadorned one and a fancier one whose molded iron leaves harmonize with the floral pattern in the upholstery.

The word "upholstery" is used purposely because this furniture has the seat and back cushions of a well-made piece of indoor furniture. Both cushions are tufted, and the back cushion in many cases extends down only part way, leaving an eighteenth gap to let the breezes reach your spine.

The upholstery pattern is an all-over floral one of twining leaves and flowers in shades of blue and green. There is a sectional piece with left and right chairs and armless center chair, an arm-chair with ottoman, a spring-base chair with a cushion seat, a chaise which is particularly graceful because of its own curve and the embellishing curves of the wrought iron, several small tables with glass tops, dining tables with matching chairs, and a ridiculous little round table with soda-fountain chairs.

Another group at Manning's comes from the Oriental section of the designer's notebook. Its wood is bamboo, stained teal color. Chairs have been fashioned with a pagoda curve to arms and legs, bound at the joints with a wrapping of rattan. The upholstered seats are solid color, the back cushions are done in a leaf-and-lantern print. While plastic-top end tables hold your gin and tonic. Or you may have tables with a wood finish if you prefer.

SIX WOMEN HURT

In Elm Road Crash: A car traveling at high speed failed to stop at the foot of Elm Road at Stockton Street Thursday night at 11:30. It's six women occupants, all employees of the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute at Skidman, were hospitalized with injuries sustained in the crash. The driver of the two-door sedan, a total loss, Mrs. Lola Holland, 33, of York Street, Burlington, was charged with reckless driving.

Also injured were Estella Chapman, 38; Jessie Holmes, 41; Lucille Williams, 27; Deborah West, 22; and Catherine Rasberry, 34, all of Florence. None of the women was seriously injured but all are patients of Princeton Hospital where they are undergoing treatment and observation.

Fire Program Saturday

Princeton's Volunteer Fire Department will demonstrate the use of its equipment at 10:30 and 3 this Saturday at the west end of the Shopping Center. The Harrison Street side of Hamberger's will be used as the site. Fire Chief James Pace is chairman of the event.

Included in the program will be a display and demonstration by the First Aid and Rescue Squad, under the direction of Elmer Rodweller. Free rides on a small fire truck will be available for the children, as well as balloons and prints of old fire engines. In case of rain, the demonstration will be postponed.

The accident was witnessed by Patrolman Joseph Hagadorn and Arthur Gallant who were driving west on Stockton Street, in a patrol car just seconds away from the collision path. The officers immediately rushed for an ambulance, rescue truck and wrecker, rendered first aid and put out a small fire that had started when a piece of metal was compressed against a front light wire causing it to short circuit.

After continuing across Stockton Street, the car ripped up about 30 feet of fence, Borough property bordering Marquand Farm, struck a large evergreen tree, and rolled over on its left side. The five passengers were mowed through the right window. Before the driver could be released, the car had to be towed.

HOISINGTON RENAMED

To Head Federalists, Harold W. Hoisington Jr. was re-elected Tuesday as chairman of the Princeton Chapter of United World Federalists. The annual meeting took place at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Pohl, 338 Franklin Avenue.

Dr. Pohl was named to continue as vice-chairman. Mrs. Louis Pensak is secretary and Alda V. Bedford, treasurer.

Mr. Hoisington reported that the chapter's membership is at a record high of 159. He attributed this to "the hard work of a number of devoted chapter members," as well as "the increasing recognition of the need for universal disarmament backed by enforceable UN laws."

Mr. Hoisington defined this as the great question of our age: "Whether or not the growing acceptance of federalists, principles will permit the world to obtain a just and lasting peace before either the East or West commits the inevitable miscalculation which will result in the third and last of the world wars."

Question of the Week

Question: Would you have acted any differently than President Eisenhower did at the summit meeting?

Where asked: Up and down Nassau Street.

Mrs. Robert Heiserman, Rosedale Road, housewife: No. It would have been easy to go along with Khrushchev's demands and apologize to him, and I admire Ike for having the courage to stand up to him as he did.

Mrs. Moore Gates, Jr., Lawrenceville Road, housewife: No. Actually, it's the first time Ike has handled it out instead of being diplomatic and polite and taking it. I feel he has gained a lot more prestige throughout the world by standing up to Khrushchev.

Harry Hartwick, 72 Arretton Road, advertising executive: I hope I would have done as he did. I think President Eisenhower showed a great deal of restraint as Khrushchev knew he would. He couldn't have done differently. Had he left the meeting immediately, Khrushchev would have had another talking point and stayed on to make it appear that he was willing to continue the talks but that the West was not. Khrushchev could have played it either way and he knew it. If you really don't care, as Khrushchev doesn't, you have much more freedom of action.

Mrs. Elaine Chaneley, 20 Stockton Road, housewife: I think that some of the opinions mentioned by Adlai Stevenson in a recent speech in Chicago could have been utilized. He emphasized, for example, this country's responsibility toward a justice-minded world rather than emphasizing our own problems.

David Williams, Chatham, banker: I think I would have gone to the summit. I believe the whole spy plane incident was so exaggerated by the Russians that it manifested an intent not to bargain in good faith.

Mrs. Kathleen Blumenfeld, Queenston Place, associated with a fashion photographer: I think I would have acted differently. At the meeting Ike said there would be no more spy flights undertaken by this country over Russia. If he had the authority to make that statement, he should have made it before the summit and not at it. Also, I would have never given the order to fly over Russia three weeks before the meeting. I want peace, and we won't get it if we continue to antagonize the Russians. If the Russians had flown over Washington, we would have been in a tearing fury and we would have been justified. Therefore, what is good for us, is good for them, too.

Maurice Pearce, 37 Wiggins Street, clothing salesman: No, I certainly wouldn't have acted any differently. If there hadn't been a spy plane issue, there would have been something else. I feel that Khrushchev had no intention of making the summit a success.

Mrs. Philip Erlich, 41 Littlebrook Road, housewife: He should have either prevented the spy plane incident from occurring at all, or a sensitive time or have made a suitable statement to have mollified Russians' feelings before the conference. As it was,

it was impossible for him to step back at the summit.

Bernard E. Bergeson, Jr., 194 State Road, manager, Personnel Press: I'm sure I wouldn't have. All of the major issues of the world stem from a period of large scale development. They don't change overnight. U-2 incidents and the like notwithstanding. Basically, the Russian point of view and ours are fundamentally different. There are deeper issues involved than one spy flight and one summit talk and I don't think any single, hasty meeting between Ike and Khrushchev would change anything. I might add that I think President Eisenhower handled himself very well at the summit.

Mrs. Carolyn Johnson, 101 Broadmead, teacher: I feel he did only what could be expected in what was a very embarrassing situation for him. I do feel that when the spy plane was discovered by the Russians, less should have been said. I don't know quite how the incident should have been handled but we should have never let ourselves be caught in those little white lies of ours.

Andrew Sans, 83 Jefferson Road, graduate student in physics: I think he acted in the only reasonable way he could have. Perhaps he shouldn't have backed down by saying that we would stop making spy flights over Russia. It obviously didn't do any good. But he did do right by not bending to Khrushchev and apologizing to him.

Frank Pietrafesa, 237 Mt. Lucas Road, proprietor of Nassau Coffee Shop: I think Eisenhower did right and I agree with him 100 percent. I don't see where any business can be done with Khrushchev. He seems to be just what history claims he is: a man who has gotten to the top on everyone else's blood. The less dealing this country has with him the better off we'll be.

John P. Servis, 30 Harrison Street, electrical contractor: I think he handled himself very well and that the country should consider itself fortunate that he is in the plot. Not only is he, in my opinion, a great military man, but a great diplomat as well.

Russell Davis, student at Princeton Theological Seminary: Eisenhower was within his rights not to back down and grovel as Khrushchev wanted him to do. He would be punishing not only himself but his own people, too. If he had, I've been impressed by reading Winston Churchill's books on World War II how the very passive attitude taken toward Hitler

Report from THE MAYOR

The Mayor Votes. The Mayor, who votes by law only in case of a tie Council vote, had his first chance in cast a tie-breaker at the special meeting of Mayor and Council last Friday night. The recommendation of the Public Works Committee favoring an emergency resolution in appropriate approximately $12,000 for the purchase of a new street sweeper again failed to get the required four affirmative votes for passage. Councilman Redding then moved that some $2,000 be appropriated for brushes and repair parts for the Borough's old sweeper.

It was this motion, seconded by Councilman Coyle, which resulted in the tie vote. The Mayor voted "aye" and the Borough staff was urged to secure the parts and make the repairs at the earliest possible date.

The Mayor's vote can be interpreted as a desire to resolve a long-standing question and as a vote of confidence in the ability of Borough Mechanic Clausen to handle the repairs and to keep the sweeper rolling effectively for at least another year.

Apology in Order. A word of apology is due to the citizens who were inconvenienced last Friday evening when the Mayor's weekly open house was interrupted for a much longer special session of the Council than had been anticipated. To those who waited and to those who decided to come back another time, the Mayor wants to add a special word of thanks for their patience.

It was thought that the awarding of the alcoholic beverage license would be a matter of minutes. Despite weeks of careful study by Council, however, the decision-making took considerable time.

Formal action had to be taken on each of the seven applications and separate resolutions were voted upon in each case. Council also received a number of communications, including a resolution from the Housing Authority with respect to possible acquisition of some existing buildings for conversion to low-income units. Because these would be financed by the Authority without Federal funds, the approval of Council would be required.

The matter has been referred to the Council Committee on the Future of Princeton for a report. The matter of a proposed new bus route through Princeton was held in abeyance when representatives of the bus company failed to appear or to present answers to questions about routes and bus stops as requested by Council. It would appear that proper routing could add to the convenience of patrons as well as to the business potential of the central business district.

A Family Party. The family of Borough staff and officials enjoyed a special surprise party honoring "Happy" Kahn for his many years of faithful and efficient service to Princeton. One of his colleagues helped to make the affair a genuine surprise by selling "Happy" a ticket to what turned out to be a dinner in his honor.

Every resident of the community should appreciate the devoted work of Mr. Kahn over many, many years in operating the unglamorous but very sound treatment plant. This dinner did not mark the end of that service but rather a well-deserved "thank you" for a job well done.

Open House Schedule. The regular weekly "Tell It to the Mayor" or" sessions will be held this Thursday, June 2, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is necessary for these informal meetings. Last week's calendar also included the important annual meeting of the Greater Trenton Council and the magnificent spring concert at the Nassau Street School.

The aggressive moves of the Nazis ruled in making the West very vulnerable, permitting Hitler to do anything he wanted. We must do the same with Khrushchev. We have to make a stand before we don't have any place to make a stand on.

Peter H. Fagnano, commuter from Manasquan, assistant sales manager for D. Van Nostrand: He did as much as he could under the circumstances. It definitely is not protocol for any head or president of a country to have to make the type of apology that Khrushchev asked for, nor do I feel the situation warranted it. I feel the situation warranted it. We would stop the spy flights which was admission that the flights were wrong. I might add that I think the President made an intelligent and appropriate statement in saying we would stop the flights. Anything that we do to add fuel to their propaganda machine or trigger another war should be stopped. What do we gain from the flights, anyway? It puts us in an awful position and do we actually gain valuable information? Even Montgomery, in England, labeled the flights as the worst blunder of modern times.

Topics Of The Town

MRS. LEON CHAIRMAN

Of South Fund Drive. Mrs. Leon of Drakes Corner Road is serving as chairman of the Princeton area campaign for the Smith College Development Fund. The campaign here, which began this week, is part of a national capital funds drive for $25,000,000.

Funds raised will provide endowment for faculty salaries, special professorships and aid to faculty scholarship, as well as for scholarships, loans and student aid and a construction program. The construction program includes a new academic building, the first to be erected by Smith since 1901; expansion and endowment of the library, a new dormitory and a new faculty center.

Aiding Mrs. Leon in the Princeton area campaign is a committee composed of alumnae, parents of Smith students, and friends of the college. Vice chairmen are Mrs. G. P. In her presentation, which represented a survey of 89 real estate sales covering the past three and one-half years, Mrs. Saunders said she found that property values in the interracial areas have continued to rise on a par with the general trend in Princeton Township. She also said there had been no evidence of "panic selling" in integrated areas.

ALL ABOARD! Auction buffs who attend the Collectors' Auction at the Princeton Hospital Fete may bid on this 30-foot, steel-hulled houseboat which will be delivered, free, to the high bidder if he lives within a five-mile radius of Princeton. Castoro and Company, Hapewell, will drive the truck. The boat has a 20-foot cabin, an enclosed bath with shower, screens and Venetian blinds for the windows, two decks, (one of them covered), and electric wiring. For use afloat, it would have to be repaired, but for use as a poolside cabana, playhouse or guest house, it's fine as is. Mrs. Roger B. Kirkpatrick (left) and Mrs. Hibben Ziesing, co-chairmen of the Collectors' Auction, are shown with the boat.

WHAT AM I BID?

Fete Will Feature Auction. A 30-foot landlocked houseboat, gold-encrusted china belonging to a Russian refugee countess and a miniature electric automobile will be among the items offered at the Collectors' Auction of the Princeton Hospital Fete to be held June 4 in the field west of Palmer Stadium. A preview of all items to be auctioned will be held next Friday, June 3, from 2 to 6 in the Auction tent on the Fete grounds.

The child's car is a bright red battery-driven Ford with headlights, forward and reverse gears and a top speed of five m.p.h. Other contributions to the auction include a valuable gold and diamond bracelet, a pearl and diamond tassel to be worn on a necklace chain and an antique black marble clock from France.

Bidders may compete for a complete Dictaphone system, an almost life-size Princeton tiger (plush) with growl, and a circular settee in white and gold with a planting urn in the middle. There are, in addition, such pieces as a charming Victorian roll-top desk for a child, twin mahogany four-poster beds, a pair of maple beds and a wide assortment of other pieces of furniture such as chairs, tables and chests and rugs.

Silver, crystal, pewter, brass and china (including one complete Spode service) will also be available to auction fans. Lester M. Slatoff, Trenton auctioneer, will begin the sale at 10 a.m. and will continue through the day until all items have been sold.

LICENSE TO KING'S COURT
Liquor Permit Granted, King's Court Restaurant on Witherspoon Street was awarded a liquor license Friday night following a closed executive session of Borough Council.

The application was approved by a vote of 3-1, Councilman Dan D. Coyle dissenting. Mr. Coyle voted in favor of Renwick's.

Other applications rejected by Council, in addition to Renwick's, were The Lamplighter, Princeton Recreation Center, John Silverstein, the Grotto and one for 353 Nassau Street. The King's Court license was granted on the grounds that the restaurant "most effectively carries out the best interests of the Borough of Princeton with consideration for the public health, morals and safety."

Norman Aaronson, owner of King's Court, plans to enlarge his restaurant by renting the 28 Witherspoon Street premises now occupied by Lou's Chinese Laundry. The laundry business is up for sale.

By taking over the additional space, Mr. Aaronson will almost double the size and the seating capacity of King's Court, adding about 50 more settings for a total of approximately 100. There will be "handicap" bar. All liquor will be served at dining tables in the present dining-room and the dining-room to be created from the additional space.

Mr. Aaronson plans a covered corridor which will connect the present restaurant with the new addition. He will continue the early American theme, using antique, old prints, bull-eye glass and other traditional materials. Final plans for the enlarged restaurant depend on approval by the Zoning Board.

MEMBERSHIP MEETING SET
By Chamber of Commerce. The first full membership meeting of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce has been scheduled for Tuesday at 4:30 at the YM-YWCA Avoca Place. The group reports almost 250 members have been enrolled during the past three weeks, and there are many prospects still to be called upon. The Tuesday meeting will deal with the organization's goals, and all members are invited to take part in the discussion.

McGraw-Hill To Expand
In Hightstown Area. Plans to build a two-story, air-conditioned building, with about 100,000 square feet of floor space, have been announced by Donald C. McGraw, president of McGraw-Hill Publishing Company. Occupancy by various service departments, now located in New York, is planned for late 1961 or early 1962. The building will be erected on the company's Hightstown property.

The book company's shipping, warehousing and company-wide stores were moved to a new building in Hightstown late in 1958. The departments to be moved to that location within the next few years include accounting and payroll services, and operations which require tabulating and computing machines.

The space to be made available in Hightstown is approximately equivalent to four lower floors of the McGraw-Hill Building on West 42d Street. Increased publishing activities will occupy the New York City space.

Total Security Needed.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:
As a long-standing pool owner, I feel a certain kinship and sympathy with those dealing with the many-faceted pool problem. I am impressed with the amount of printed matter in the last issue of Town Topics on the subject. A deep cursy to your intellectual and highly rational Princeton adult population and with all due appreciation I set forth these remarks:

There is a purely physical problem we are describing and as usual with qualitative controversies, the main points seem to get lost on the way. The only thing that pool owners with small children around have to worry about is 100 percent security of the pool site. Please note that I am disregarding aesthetic values or side-show discussions of stepping on banana peels and the like.

I watched in horror last week as our four year-old pulled the baby's stroller up to our sturdy 4 1/2' fence and proceeded to climb over to get a ball — so you see discipline is not enough, nor is a fence sufficient. What, then, is 100 percent — not 50 percent security — where and when it is needed?

I have heard discussion on the subject of fencing. This topic seems nearly insoluble. One may say 6' wood chicken wire of a type where a child cannot get a footing is the answer. Our particular fence is vertical staggered 1/4" high. Clearly our sturdy fence is not enough.

We are going to decorate ours with barbed wire offset six inches. One might also sink broken glass on top of a solid fence as is done in Europe. This does not sound pretty, but neither is my present state of mind.

Luckily this problem is confined to a relatively small age group and it is my opinion that everyone with a pool should not be made responsible if there are no small ones around to whom a pool might be readily accessible, but WHERE THE SHOE FITS, PUT IT ON, and remember that anything less than 100 percent security equals nothing.

"We Nominates..."

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:
The Student Council of the Valley Road School would like to nominate the faculty of the Township Schools as Princeton's Men and Women of the Week.

We would like to thank you for the faithful guidance we have had through the years. From the Kindergarten to the Eighth Grade, one of you always has been interested enough to guide us in the right path.

In addition to preparing our daily lessons you have made time to take extra college courses. You have given time to develop our club program and chaperone our school dances.

There have been times in our school career when you have given needy children food and clothing. Every day we find you fulfilling the duty schedule on the bus platform, the playground, and in the lunch room.

This week in each of the faculty lounges we placed a large bouquet of flowers which we have picked and arranged along with a note to show you our appreciation.

These are some of the reasons why we wish to nominate you Princeton's Men and Women of the Week.

The Student Council
Valley Road School

Depletes Opening of Prospect.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:
The recent decision by the Borough Council to turn Prospect Avenue into a thoroughfare, being made by a few, comes as a shock to many.

Of the four votes, against two, in favor, one was cast in absentia by a member of the Council who had also been absent from the public hearing for which Borough residents turned out en masse to support the University, the student body, the upperclass clubs — in their common protest against such a measure. Thus, actually, the vote was only three to two — a very slender quorum by which the servants of the town have betrayed it, obviously in the interests of those who are more concerned with the township.

However, if the Greater Princeton Group manages to realize its aim to turn Princeton commercially greater, it is likely to do so only to the degree that it tends to destroy what has made, and up to this time has kept, Princeton truly great.

For over two centuries, Princeton has existed for the University.

alone. No other major seat of learning can boast of such a satisfactory and exclusive relationship with its town. For who could say: New Haven is Yale University is Johns Hopkins, New York is Columbia, Cambridge is Harvard, etc., without falsehood or offense to any but possibly the Chambers of Commerce involved.

Princeton is unique in that the college and the town have maintained a symbiosis with such success that Princeton is Princeton and as such is known and loved all over the world.

It is largely because of this distinction that she now finds herself surrounded by industrial and residential developments, not created by her own inner development but attracted simply by her fabulous charm and prestige. And now they threaten to violate her heretofore carefully-guarded integrity.

The effect which these conditions may have on both Borough and University, unless controlled by more responsible public servants, would tend to reduce greatly the strong appeal to which Princeton — Continued on Page 22

please understand that my reference to Thomas Jefferson was to re-emphasize the Constitution by which we are presumably governed. It should be remembered that the Constitution was almost wholly his work. Also, that notwithstanding the Mayor's nor Councilman Walker's attitude as reported was that of a Regular Democrat or Republican, as conceived by Thomas Jefferson, the founder of the Republican or Democratic-Republican Party.

Jefferson, it might be recalled, ran twice as the Republican Party candidate for President and served that office for two terms; 1801-1809, having served the preceding term, 1797-1801, as Republican Vice-President with Adams as President.

Pre-election party affiliation is of no particular moment in the case at hand. The attitude and actions of a man in public office become his contribution to the public welfare and reflect his faithfulness to our Constitution.

FRANK MERRIWELL DAY
Heroes Make History. Sport
writers whose sports stories record the deeds of game-winning heroes with never a worry over reality would have been right at home Saturday at University Field. Three fascinating feats were accomplished within minutes of each other, although the fact that one was a couple of hundred yards away from the others made simultaneous viewing
a bit difficult.

The trio of Frank Merriwells were Wally Phillips, left-handed throwing pitcher on the Princeton baseball team; Captain Mike Ip-polito, left fielder and cleanup hitter; and Al "Cookie" Kron-gard, agile goalie on Princeton's Ivy lacrosse champions. In both games, their efforts gave the Tigers a slim, well-deserved victory.

Item One: When Ken Murray
grabbed a sinking line in right field with two out and a runner rounding third, bringing the top of the 14th inning to a close, it marked the 12th straight game in which Phillips had hung a zero on the scoreboard for Navy. He replied to haters in a row, 22 out of 25, and in the eleventh,
pitched his way out of a one-out,
bases filled situation with a pair of strikeouts.

Item Two: As the contest went into its fourth hour, Captain Mike Ippolito stepped to the plate and blasted the first pitch in the home
half of the 14th better than 100 feet to left center. Commenting later that "it sat under the ball more than I wanted," he rocketed it so high that he was going into second base by the time the first of two middle outfielders laid hands on
it. The relay was slightly overthrown, and the Tiger captain crossed standing up for an inside
the park home run, giving Princeton a spectacular 2-1 triumph.

Item Three: Shortly before the ball game ended so dramatically, spectators keeping one eye on early lacrosse action saw Kron-gard make a save and move downfield with the ball. He disappeared behind the stands bordering the lacrosse field, and seconds later, a sharp clear rang out.

Krongard had run the length of the field, kept possession of the ball and scored Princeton's first goal. Nearly two hours later, it provided the margin in the slim 6-5 triumph by which the Tigers kept possession of the Ivy title they have now won each season since 1957. Neither Coach Ferris Thomson, nor referee Joe Julien, the latter with 29 years of officiating in the sport, could recall a similar feat.

After defeating Yale and Rutgers, the latter by 9-6 at New Brunswick last week, Princeton had unexpected difficulty in scoring against Cornell. The Ithacans were all even at 2-2 after two periods, but never led during the hectic second half.

Bruce Nelson's tally early in the third round sent the Orange and Black ahead for good, and it held a two-goal margin during much of the closing action. The hours showed the gap to 6-5
with five minutes to go, and a stormed the Tiger game steadily
but Krongard was equal to all demands as the clock ran out.

CREWS LOSE

But Heavies Beat Yale. Cornell
took the Canopic cup at 11:15
by a length and a half Saturday but Princeton's varsity crew enjoyed the unusual pleasure of leading Yale across the finish line. The Tigers were a half length better than the Blue in the two mile event, which ended action until the national regatta
at Syracuse on June 18.

The Red swept the river in winning the jayvee and freshman races as well, and it was almost the same story at Cambridge. In the Goldswain Cup regatta, Harvard's fine lightweight won by open water over Princeton, with a Yale a distant third.
The Tigers, however, finished first in the junior varsity event after Harvard had won the freshman race.

OTHER SPORTS

Stadium Record Broken. A fine mile-relay time of 3:16.8 broke the Palmer Stadium record for a Princeton quartet Saturday but Cornell won the track meet, 75-65. Pete Harwood, who earlier had scored a double in the skirts, ran the first leg, followed by Ken McIntire, Whit Azoy and Dick Edmonds.

Earlier in the week, Pennsylvania had topped the Tigers by 15 points at Philadelphia. Ed Thurber won the javelin with ease
in both meets but did not come close to his 235-foot performance earlier in the month. If his score arm does not bother him, he'll be an on-scene favorite to win the ICA title this weekend at Villanova.

Tennis Team Finishes 13-1. A onesided defeat at the hands of Yale's unusually strong tennis team was followed by a 5-1 victory over Cornell. John Conroy's operatives thus finished the season with a fine 12-1 mark.

In golf, Navy was trimmed,
4-3, at Annapolis. Harry Kinnedy's team thus won nine of 14 matches during the 1960 season.

BALL GAME SATURDAY

Against Fordham at 2:30. The annual baseball game against Fordham, a fixture on the last Saturday in May, will be played at 2:30 on University Field.
Southpaw Dave Douglas is scheduled to start for Princeton against the New Yorkers, who normally field one of the better nines in the east.

The Tigers finished fifth in the Eastern League after splitting their games last week — a 10-2 loss to Army at West Point preceding the extra-inning victory over Navy. The Princeton record was 4-5; Army's 8-0 mark, with the traditional contest with Navy still to be played, is already good for the championship.

A pair of games in June against Yale, sandwiched around a June 8 appearance of Colgate here, will complete the season for Princeton. That, plus the ICA-track this weekend and the Syracuse regatta next month, round out the spring schedule for Princeton athletics.

SECTIONAL MEET AHEAD

For FIS Trackmen, Princeton High School's track team will

JACK LACKEY
Princeton High Pitcher

It's been a while since Princeton High School has had a pitcher as good as Jack Lackey. When he graduates next month, a number of years may pass before the figure he has compiled will be equalled. Consider these:

Over a three-season span, Lackey has won 17 of the 20 decisions in which he has figured, never losing more than one game a year. He's sporting an earned run average for this spring of .07 and his strike-out totals are well over one an inning—47 in the 38 rounds he has worked.

Lackey is a coach's joy in that he's a hitting pitcher—353 this spring, never under 300 at PHS—and accordingly plays first base or outfield when not on the mound. Harry Zoll, his coach, thinks of him in terms of "one of the top high school pitchers in the state," and there are other figures to bear him out: a no-hitter this spring against Trenton Catholic and six other games in his career in which he has yielded anywhere from one to three hits.

Zoll calls him "a good leader" as the Little Tigers' captain; "unassuming, a good sport and a 'ballplayer's ballplayer.'" Lackey is more than just a good man with bat and glove; last winter, he was a top score-

ing member of the PHS basketball team.
In addition to the remaining games on the regular schedule, the 18-year old senior is a key figure in Princeton hopes for a high finish in the Central Jersey Group III tournament, which starts this weekend. After graduation, he and his parents (Mr. and Mrs. John Lackey of 222 North Harrison Street) have Wake Forest College in mind.

After college? It might be a shot at professional baseball. Lackey concedes, and he has preliminary inquiries from a number of major league scouts to whet his interest. It's a long, hard climb up the ladder, but at Princeton High School, Jack Lackey has made a fine start.

Sports In Princeton

Saturday. All teams in the area will participate in the classified meet.

Trenton High Beaten. PHS outscored Trenton in every group—running, jumping and weight events—Friday on the loser's field to win, 68-49, and gain its fifth dual meet victory. The Blue and White has lost two.

Taking first place in the low and high hurdles and the broad jump, co-captain Lamont Fletcher again paved the way to victory. His 14.9 in the high hurdles marked the first time he has been clocked under 15 seconds for the event, while his winning leap of 19 feet, 11½ inches in the broad jump also represented his best effort in this event.

Dave Kilgour's jump of 5 feet, four inches in the high jump in which he tied Albert Latimer of TIS for first place was his best mark this year. Dave also placed second in the 440.

The Blue and White made a clean sweep in the shot put and javelin with Ridge Applegate, Howard Gould and Jim Mount placing one, two, three in the shot and Joe Beacheil, Ben Collins and Applegate finished second and third behind Elwyn Wittenborn of TIS in the discus.

Steve Schibetta was a double winner for the Blue and White. He took the 100 and 220.

Somersville Swamped. Visiting Somersville was outclassed by the Little Tigers last week as they topped the opposition in the running, jumping and weight events to win easily, 80 to 37.

The losers placed first in the 440, 880 and mile runs, but the coach Win Niles' entry group elsewhere. Applegate and Fletcher were double winners.

HUN NINE SHUTOUT

By Admiral Farragut. Hun pitcher Paul Kadie gave up only four hits but his opposing moundman from Farragut, John Myers, lowered only three and struck out 10 Saturday afternoon to blank Hun School, 3-0, and hand the Red and Black its fifth loss in 12 games.

"What hurt us most," Hun coach Squier Ball said, "was fielding errors. Two pick-off attempts went awry for errors and cost us runs. And, again, our inability to get men home—we must have stranded 9 or 10—cost us heavily."

Hun Edges Pingry. Last Wednesday at Pingry, Hun made capital of errors by the home team to take a 3-1 decision.

Jay Maynell picked up his third win in limiting Pingry to three hits. Bill Gilman stood out for the victors at the plate, getting two for four, both clutch hits. Regardless of the outcome of this past Wednesday's game with Solebury, Coach Ball is assured of a winning season in his first year as Hun coach. He looks ahead to a successful season next year, saying that "the boys will be acquainted with what I'm trying to do and with my style of playing ball, which means a lot."

GIANTS HOLD LEAD

 Princeton Kiwanis Omotes and the Nassau Oil Tigers were all tied for second with 3-2-1 records. The First National Bank Indians, with a 1-4-1 mark, hold a two-point margin over the last-place Laidlaw and Co. Red Sox who are 1-3 for the season.

CONTRACTS DISTRIBUTED
 For YMCA Junior Baseball. Contracts for boys 13 to 15 years old who wish to play in, the YMCA's Summer Junior Baseball League are now being distributed. They are available through the schools and at the YMCA. Commissioner B. E. Bergeson, Jr., announced that the league will run from July 1 through August 30.

All teams will be fully uniformed for the first time this year, Mr. Bergeson reported. The Junior League will be under the direction of the YMCA Baseball Committee, headed by the commissioner, and including Robert Decker, Gil Turner, Edward Pomiowski, Robert Sinkler, Harland Hoisington, Jr. and Richard Hoisington.

Contract deadline has been set for Saturday, June 4, and all forms must be returned to the YMCA on Avalon Place. Further information may be obtained from Walter W. Sorg, Youth Director of the YMCA. The "Y" now provides a continuing baseball experience for boys from 9 through 15 with the Pre-league, the Midget League and the Junior League.

All Stars Play Monday

The 11th annual YMCA Midget League All-Star Game will be played at 2 Memorial Day at the YMCA field on Avalon Place. Thirty-six boys, representing 12 different Midget teams, will fight it out to decide whether the American League or National League will carry the honors for the year.

Directing the two All-Star teams will be last year's pennant-winning managers, Barney Hoisington of the Red Sox and Jack Vigners of the Dodgers. Bruce Bedford and Jake Delano are their respective assistants.

The program has been enlarged this year to include complete family participation, with a swim for Midget Leaguers and their families planned from 4:15 until 6. Other activities will include a softball game, volleyball, and badminton. For those less athletically inclined, a series of slides on resident and day camps will be shown in the "IT" building. Hot dogs, ice cream and soda will be on sale.

LETTERS AWARDED

To Basketball Squad. Varsity letters were awarded last week to 13 members of the St. Paul's School basketball team. Coach

Marty Lombardo, who led the Cavaliers to an 11-3 record, made the presentations which also included four special awards.

Letters were given to Captain George McVan, Joe Lahrman, Doug Hoffman, Kerry Klink, Sam Proaccini, Tony Proaccini, Tony Perone, Bill Barkley, Bob Tennison, Tom Flood, Garry Bancroft, Mike Maguire and Al Proaccini. Special awards included Bill Barkley, most improved; Joe Lahrman, high scorer with 380 points; George McVan, sportsmanship; and Al Proaccini, team spirit.

BOWLING NOTES

Sportsmen Near Tie. Sportsmen No. 2 opened up a two-game lead over Walker Gordon and Prince Laundry, with 58 points each, as the "B" League moved within one week of the end of the second half of its season. One win in the final session will assure at least a tie for the championship for the Sportsmen. The winners will face Maul Electric in the title roll-off to determine the overall champions.

In other Princeton bowling action last week, Cifelli's Electric edged Decker's Dairy (97) by one game to take the second-half championship in the Women's Industrial League. Cifelli's will meet Nassau Service in the title roll-off. Helen Tamasi led mop last week with a 198 game, followed by Dot Moore, 185-170; Mae Wholfahrt, 179; and Marilyn Lowe, 175-173.

1960's OILHEAT keeps money in your pocket. ■ Your monthly fuel bills are lower — far lower — than they'd be with any other fully automatic fuel. And this is especially true in a state like New Jersey where winters are long and hard. ■ But substantial savings are not the only reason so many thoughtful people insist on OILHEAT. They know that OILHEAT is clean...

comfortable... convenient and safe. They know that OILHEAT is the mark of a modern house... a house that has more dollar value on the market today and in the future. ■ 1950's research has made 1960's OILHEAT truly THE fuel of the Sixties. PLAINSBORO ROLLS ON Leaders Take Two More, Two more victories during the past week added to Plainsboro's lead in the Men's Softball League. Russ Watson and Butch Chambers hurried the pace-setters to respective triumphs over Circle Esso and the Sportsmen.
Watson threw a four-hitter at Circle Esso last Thursday, winning 8-4. A first-throwing grand slam by Rocky Osborn gave the victors a big cushion. The Sportsmen were trimmed, 3-2, on Tuesday, the winning run scoring when Dave Swannhart stole second and went all the way on a wild throw.

Sanninos moved into second place with a pair of victories by comfortable margins. They hammered the Chemical Workers, 21 to 5, before defeating Teagues, 8-2. Joe DeNegro fanned eight and allowed only two hits in the latter contest, Pete Cook contributing a home run in his support.

In other games, Green Cables of Belle Mead split, Joe Fisher sent Teagues down with three hits.

PHS in Tournament

Princeton High School's baseball team has been invited to participate in a state tournament among Group III schools conducted by the New Jersey Interscholastic Athletic Association. The Little Tigers will play North Hunterdon Regional Saturday at 11 at Iaffa Field.

Entries are picked on the basis of their won-loss record. At the time it submitted its record for consideration, Princeton High's record was 8-2. If the Blue and White beats Hunterdon, it will meet another tournament winner on June 4. This Thursday afternoon, the Little Tigers take on Trenton High at Trenton in a return game and Somerville the next day at Somerville. Princeton having up-ended PHS early in the season, coach Harry Zoll is hopeful of winning; both, claiming that "baseball is a great equalizer." Tuesday, the Blue and White plays host to Hamilton High for its final regular season appearance, "What happens after that," Zoll concluded, "depends on how we do against Hunterdon Regional on Saturday."

In recording a 6-4 triumph last Thursday, Bob Day going two for two, On Tuesday, however, Green Cables was blanked by the Sportsmen, 9-0, Toto getting the shut-out.

Leo's Rural Service also divided a pair by wide margins. The Chemical Workers were swamped, 26-7, but Leo's was a shutout victim of the Sportsmen, 14-0. Harry Kahny was the victor in that one.

Earlier in the evening, on the same field, the Braves rapped Bob Moore for 22 hits to rout E.T.S., 15-6. Connie Stout and Lorraine Disler each went 4 for 4 to lead the Braves' hitting attack. Sis Grady was the winning pitcher.
